

NIH Application/Award #: _____

Human Subjects Training Certification Letter

To comply with the National Institute of Health \(NIH\) policy requiring education on the protection of human subjects, the University of Wisconsin-Madison certifies that the key personnel listed below, who are involved with human subjects or the design and conduct of the proposed study, have completed an educational program entitled “CITI Human Subjects Protections (HSP) Training” at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Human Subjects Protections (HSP) training is provided through the Collaborative Institutional Training Initiative (CITI) Program and is available at <https://irb.wisc.edu/education-training/training/human-subjects-training/citi-training/>. The online module includes training on the responsibilities of research investigators and Institutional Review Boards (IRB) in the proper conduct of research involving human subjects based on ethical principles described in the Belmont Report, Federal regulations, and the University of Wisconsin-Madison’s Multiple Project Assurance.

Key Personnel:

Principal Investigator

Date

Institutional Authority

Date

Research and Sponsored Programs

University of Wisconsin–Madison 21 North Park Street, Suite 6301 Madison, Wisconsin 53715-1218
608-262-3822 Email: preaward@rsp.wisc.edu; www.rsp.wisc.edu